Lovick to address annual Snohomish County Tomorrow assembly

Snohomish County Executive John Lovick will present the opening address at this month’s 2013 Snohomish County Tomorrow (SCT) assembly.

A panel of speakers, including city of Snohomish Mayor Karen Guzak, Snohomish County Executive Director Peter Camp and Cascadia Center Director Bruce Agnew, will discuss the potential for developing the Eastside Rail Corridor into a trail and upgrading the rails to accommodate both freight and passenger trains. The long-term vision for the corridor is to bring commuter rail service to the county, east of the I-5 corridor, and eventually connect to Everett and the Sound Transit system.

The SCT assembly runs from 5 to 8 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 25, in the public meeting room of the County Administration Building East, on the Snohomish County campus at 3000 Rockefeller Ave., Everett.

Snohomish County Tomorrow is a cooperative forum consisting of representatives from Snohomish County and each of its cities as well as from the Tulalip Tribes. The group’s primary function is to oversee the Countywide Planning Policies – written policies on growth management from which the county and city’s comprehensive plans are developed.
