

WARNING

- Cougars have been encountered at close range recently in this area.

If you encounter a cougar:

- 1. Stop, stand tall and don't run. Pickup small children. Don't run. A cougar's instinct is to chase.
- 2. Do not approach the animal, especially if it is near a kill or with kittens.
- 3. Try to appear larger than the cougar. Never take your eyes off the animal or turn your back. Do not crouch down or try to hide.
- 4. If the animal displays aggressive behavior, shout, wave your arms and throw rocks. The idea is to convince the cougar that you are not prey, but a potential danger.
- 5. If the cougar attacks, fight back aggressively and try to stay on your feet. Cougars have been driven away by people who have fought back.

Department of Fish and Wildlife responds to cougar and bear sightings when there is a threat to public safety or property. If it is an emergency, dial 911
