

PROJECT UPDATE

Pilchuck River Bridge 581 Replacement

Bridge No. 581, also known as Glover's Bridge, is located on 64th St. NE in the Lochsloy community. The existing bridge was built in 1960 and is a one-lane, steel, and timber structure.

In April, Snohomish County will begin construction on a replacement bridge. The replacement bridge will eliminate the intermediate support piers in the river and reduce debris accumulation under the bridge.

The new bridge will be constructed immediately upstream of the existing bridge. During construction, access through the construction zone will be available to Polestar Farms; however, the area will be closed to all other public access.

For project background information or to receive notifications on this project, please visit www.snohomishcountywa.gov/615.

April through November 2016

The bridge construction zone will be closed to public access.

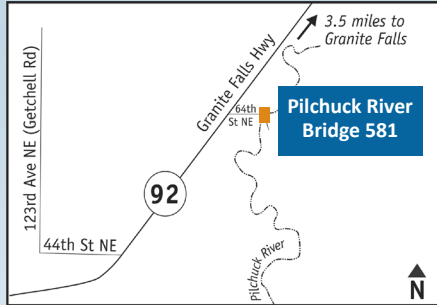

- No river access
- No pedestrian access
- No parking
- No turnaround
