

Savvy Septic Program

Snohomish County's Savvy Septic Program is a one-stop-shop for financing options and education to help homeowners maintain a healthy septic system. Savvy Septic launched in April 2014 and provides low-interest loans, low-income grants, and maintenance rebates, as well as free septic care classes to County homeowners.

Snohomish County is home to spectacular marine shorelines, lakes, rivers, and streams that provide recreation, wildlife habitat, food, and natural beauty unique to the Pacific Northwest. Maintaining healthy septic systems is critical for clean water and to protect the health of our aquatic ecosystems, the health and safety of county residents, and home value.

Approximately 75% of Snohomish County's 80,000 septic systems are 25 years old or older, and many are near bodies of water. By maintaining a clean and healthy septic system, program participants are investing in clean water for their families and the greater community.
