Aerospace Update

This week has brought great news in aerospace. As many have reported, the Boeing Company has indicated the 777x wingline and fuselage will be built here in the Snohomish County and greater Puget Sound region. The hard work of many lead to this wonderful announcement, and their efforts reflect their support for both industry and the skilled workforce that makes it all possible. The Washington State legislature has been called into a special session by Governor Inslee to address various policies issues that will continue to make our region the ideal home for aerospace. Onward and upward!

Capitol Christmas Tree Stops in Everett

We've not yet gobbled our turkeys, our goodies or gravies, but bells will be ringing this Friday as the Capitol Christmas Tree stops in Everett on its way to Olympia. Join in on the festivities featuring performances by the Everett Chorale, Snohomish County Children's Choir, and singer-songwriter Jenny Vick. Smokey the Bear will be escorting the tree, while Santa looks through the crowd for who's naughty or nice. Join the fun on Friday, November 8, from 10am to noon.

Flying Heritage Collection:
Free Sunday Admission for Active Duty and Veterans

While they will be closed to visitors on Veterans Day, the Flying Heritage Collection would like to honor the men and women who proudly serve by offering free admission to Vets and Active Duty members of our armed forces, on Sunday, November 10, from 10am - 5pm. Grab your favorite flight fanatics or history hound, and visit the world's most important and iconic military machines of the 20th Century. Paul G. Allen's Flying Heritage Collection is located at Paine Field, 3407 - 109th Street in Everett.
