Snohomish County Council Approves Joint Resolution honoring the employees of the Snohomish County Sheriff's Office

On May 10, 2017 the Snohomish County Council unanimously approved Joint Resolution 17-018 honoring the employees of the Snohomish County Sheriff's Office and proclaiming May 7-14, 2017 National Correctional Officers and employees week and May 14-20, 2017 National Police Officers week in Snohomish County.

During the meeting County Sheriff Ty Trenary took a moment to thank the Council for the recognition. The County Council and the County Executive spoke in support of the resolution and thanked the employees for their work ensuring public safety.

"We are so proud of our Sheriff's department and all of the work the employees do to ensure public safety in our community," said Council Chair Brian Sullivan. "I hope our constituents will join us in our appreciation for this difficult jobs these people do every day."

"Our law enforcement and public safety professionals face incredible challenges in their service to our community, and it is important that we acknowledge and support their commitment to this critical responsibility," said Councilmember Wright.

As noted in the resolution, elected leaders and the community recognize the significant dangers and challenges employees of the Snohomish County Sheriff's Office face, and they are grateful for their professionalism, service, dedication and sacrifices that they make each day.

"We at the Council truly appreciate the importance of the work of the correctional officers, deputies and employees of the Snohomish County Sheriff's Office," said Councilmember Terry Ryan. "They put their lives on the line daily so the rest of us can safely live, work and play in our communities."

"I am thankful for the professional and courteous dedication displayed by our deputies, correction officers and all those who serve in law enforcement in Snohomish County," added Councilmember Sam Low. "In addition, I encourage everyone to take time out of their schedules this weekend to remember those who have given their lives in the line of duty and their families."

"I remain committed to working with Sheriff Trenary to create the safest environment for people to live, work, and play in Snohomish County," Councilmember Nate Nehring added.

The Council would like to reaffirm their appreciation to all Sheriff's Office employees for their hard work and dedication to their jobs. Please join the council in thanking the employees of our County Sheriff's Office and expressing our deep gratitude for the work they do.
