

Two road closures in August for culvert replacements

Snohomish County Public Works Surface Water Management will replace two undersized culverts that run beneath Elliott and Connelly Roads, south of Snohomish. The new, 16-foot-wide culverts will be installed one at a time, with two full road closures. During installation, Elliott Road will close Aug. 11-22. Connelly Road will close Aug. 23-30. Drivers will follow signed detours to get around the work zone.

The new, larger culverts will help reduce private property and road flooding, reduce flood-related road damage, and allow fish passage. The existing culverts are too small to handle large volumes of water, and the roadway often floods during heavy rains.

Scan me with your mobile device

For more information, visit www.snoco.org and search "Elliott Road" or call Bronlea Mishler at 425-388-6475.

Interpreter and translation services for non-English speakers are available upon request. Please make arrangements by calling Bronlea Mishler, 425-388-6475. Hearing/speech impaired call 711 or email bronlea.mishler@snoco.org. Printed July 2013 (DH)