Early Childhood Social-Emotional Wellness

How do I find support?

Promoting mental health, resiliency and well-being of children (birth to 5) and their families in our communities

Early Learning Mental Health Subcommittee

3000 Rockefeller Ave, Everett, WA 98201

Every child... needs to be nurtured from the inside out to develop the socio-emotional, physical, and cognitive skills needed to be successful in learning and in life. Children are more likely to overcome mental health symptoms with their parent or caregiver support and a commitment to finding the right services .

Early Childhood Mental Health describes a child's socio-emotional wellness as being able to:

- Form close, secure and meaningful attachments and relationships
- Experience, regulate and express emotions
- Explore their environment and be ready to learn

What Do I Do If I'm Concerned about a Child?

Talk with your child's doctor, counselor, family, teacher, family support staff, early intervention specialist, or healthcare provider.

When do I seek help and support and contact a Professional?

Infant (birth through 1 year)

- Very difficult to soothe or console; lack of joy during caregiver interaction; or, rarely cries
- Limited interest in things, people, environment, or, may appear fearful or on guard
- Failure to gain weight
- Consistent strong reactions to touch, sounds or movement; stiffens body when picked up
- Sleep, feeding, and/or eating problems
- Child's primary caregiver is struggling with parenting or experiencing their own

Toddler (1-3 years)

(Includes birth - 1 year issues in addition to the following)

- Displays very little emotion
- Unable to calm self
- Does not turn to adults for comfort or help
- Excessive fearfulness or excessive sadness
- Withdrawal or excessive clinging
- Aggression toward self or others
- Impulsiveness and hyperactivity
- Excessive tantrums or defiance
- Language delays

Preschool (3-5 years)

(Includes birth - 3 issues in addition to the following)

- Consistently prefers not to play with others or with toys
- Hyperactivity beyond activity levels of what other children are doing
- Goes to strangers easily
- Destructive to toys or other objects
- Hurts animals
- Limited use of words to express feelings
- Persistent nightmares
- Excessive fear, worrying, or crying
- Child has experienced trauma or witnessed family or community violence

What questions should I ask a provider?

Before you visit your provider it is helpful to write down some questions that you want to ask.

- Do you involve parents (or guardians) in the counseling process?
- Do you provide family therapy? How do you decide if this is needed?
- What criteria do you use to determine whether or not a child needs medication? To whom do you refer for this type of assessment?
- If my child needs special accommodations at school, do you assist in making these arrangements?
- How flexible is your appointment schedule? Do you offer after school/ evening/Saturday appointments?
- If you or I decide that you and my child might not work well together, will you be able to suggest other referrals?
- What is your training and experience working with Infant/Early Childhood Mental Health, as well as working with families from diverse backgrounds?
- My child has been having some problems in the following areas... (provide examples of the behaviors that concern you).

What should I do if I don't think my child is getting better?

- Talk to your child's healthcare provider, teacher, etc., and share your concerns.
- Ask questions—you are your child's best advocate. Get an assessment. Ask for help.
