

Four themes for County Vision:

Within the changing conditions in Snohomish County from development and climate:

1. Minimize future risk by focusing development outside of floodplains, relocating threatened structures, promoting infill in already urbanized areas, and reducing downstream flood risk using land use and development codes.
2. Protect and restore functioning watersheds and floodplains to re-establish natural river and estuarine processes.
3. Protect current and potential food growing areas to support our local farm economy and ensure an increasingly local food supply.
4. Address the environmental impacts on socio-economically disadvantaged communities.
